KEN BEEBE has served as executive director of Twin Rocks Friends Camp & Conference Center for the past 23 years. Twin Rocks is a 350-bed Christian camp situated on 120 coastal acres one block from the ocean in Rockaway Beach, Ore. It enjoys a long and prosperous history, and will celebrate its Centennial in 2018.

In addition to conducting numerous camps and retreats for members of the evangelical Friends (Quaker) church, Twin Rocks annually partners with dozens of other organizations, including churches representing 20+ denominations and 30+ public and private schools.

Ken supervises a staff of 50 employees with a budget of $2.1 million. Prior to his work at Twin Rocks, Ken served in mid-management roles of large homeless shelters in Boston, Massachusetts and Portland, Ore., and at a wilderness camping ministry in northern Washington. He holds a master's degree in public and private management from Yale University and a bachelor of arts in sociology from George Fox University.

Ken has served on the board of directors of several organizations, including a private Christian university, a public school district, a publishing house, a retirement community, his church denomination, and the Christian Camp & Conference Association. In recent years, Ken has come alongside the boards of several Christian camps in the role of consultant/coach and was invited by CCCA to serve as a board coach in the inaugural program of CCCA Thriving Boards.

He has been married to his wife, LeAnn, for 30 years, and they are proud parents to two young adults. Ken loves books, coffee, heartfelt conversations, the Oregon Ducks, and the Boston Red Sox.
