Research

CCCA has invested in research opportunities within Christian camping and related industries. Every three years, CCCA produces the Compass Survey, which serves as a benchmarking tool for members to learn from other members like them. In past years, we have participated in and even spearheaded other studies including The Power of Camp study to explore the effectiveness and lasting impacts of camp in campers' lives. We've also worked with Wheaton College on the Summer Staff study to focus on the impact of summer camp on staff and we've collaborated with Barna Group in the Barna Pastors study to evaluate the impact of Christian camp in the lives of 600 pastors. Quantitative and qualitative data is important to CCCA and our members.
